SIGMA NU FRATERNITY AT THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY

STATE COLLEGE, PA.

JANUARY 1999

DELTA DELTA CELEBRATES 90 YEARS

By Michael Sweeney '92
Alumni Commander

On December 21, 1998, Sigma Nu celebrated 90 years of brotherhood at Penn State. From our founding in 1908 out of the University Club grew a fraternity of over 1,300 men.

Over the generations, the house and faces that make up Sigma Nu have changed; the principles of love, truth and honor that our brotherhood was built upon remain the same. Through our chapter, many of us developed the relationships, leadership skills and values that shape our lives as alumni today.

Out of our shared college experiences as brothers grew some of our most enduring and rewarding relationships. Many of our closest and most trusted friends came from Sigma Nu. Some of us even met our wives at fraternity events.

As our fraternity celebrates this great milestone, I would like to thank all the brothers, who through their hard work over the years, have made Delta Delta what it is today. Our house has developed into a great place where college men can develop the social and leadership skills they will need upon graduation. It is also a place where alumni can visit and share stories of their college experience. And most importantly, it is a place where we have forged some of our most valuable and lasting friendships.

THE CHAPTER BIDS A FOND FAREWELL TO PEARL NESHTERUK

By Chris Handa '92
Alumni Lieutenant Commander

Pearl has served us homemade bread, stickies, stew and other favorites for 21 years. She made sure that brothers had a cake on their birthdays, and we had plenty of chili right before sorority socials and big parties. (No, that wasn't a coincidence. It was Pearl's own way of letting us know that she loved us.) This past Homecoming, Pearl officially retired.

Andy Schall '95 presents a Sigma Nu house sketch to retiring cook Pearl Neshteruk.

Pearl has also seen us grow up and return to State College, she has attended our weddings. In a few cases, she has even watched our children grow up, too. More than just a cook, Pearl has been a friend and a mother to several generations of Sigma Nus. She always returned to work on Mondays, no matter how bad we left the kitchen or how tired the caterers were after the weekend.

Thank you, Pearl, for being there for 21 years! Thank you, too, for passing your secrets down to your daughter, Penny, who is taking your place as Sigma Nu house cook. Welcome back, Penny!

FALL SEMESTER AN OUTSTANDING SUCCESS

By James R. Merritt '00, Eminent Commander

The fall semester of 1998 has been quite an experience for me and for the brothers of Sigma Nu. Our accomplishments in rush, dry events, elections and philanthropies have been outstanding.

Our first goal as an undergraduate chapter was to uphold the high standards and numbers we achieved during rush in spring of 1998. Justen Bennett '99 was again elected as the rush chair and did an excellent job in recruiting new candidates to Sigma Nu. At the end of the rush period, 19 bids were extended and nine were accepted. This matched the number of acceptances from spring and sparked the beginning of a promising semester. At this writing, we still have nine of the most impressive bunch of candidates the house has seen in years. These nine men show outstanding leadership traits, work well together and are dedicated to making themselves and Delta Delta reach our full potential. We are confident that they will be effective and hard-working brothers.

Fall 1998 was also an experimental semester for the Interfraternity Council (IFC) and Penn State's Greek community as a whole. In late spring, the IFC unanimously voted for a week of dry rush beginning this fall. This was a new challenge for fraternities and one that complemented the "Dry 2000" clause from Grand Chapter weeks before. We decided to tackle this issue head-on by throwing a university-supported dry party in the grass lot, south of the house. I decided to head up the event and contacted Phi Delta Theta, Fiji and the IFC regarding the party. Phi Delt and Fiji decided to work with us, and together we threw a band party for the entire university. Bluesuedegroove was the main attraction, a local band featuring Delta Delta alumnus Artin Armani '96. The event was a success, leading to a promising rush and positive publicity around the university and the country. An Associated Press release was sent out regarding Penn State's dry rush and highlighting Sigma Nu's event. A letter was sent from the university to National, and many friendships and opportunities opened for the house. These relations are ones that will help build Sigma Nu into one of the top fraternities in the future.

Homecoming was another success — back-to-back overall champions! Yes, once again our chapter has won PSU Homecoming. Theta Alpha Pi and Sigma Nu reunited to attack Homecoming for the second year in a row. The week was terrific, with the float-building, the competitions and the celebration. We thank all the alumni who returned and helped enjoy the achievements of our house. At the Homecoming dinner, both the undergraduate chapter and the alumni chapter thanked Pearl Neshteruk, our house cook, for her 21 years of dedication; we wished her good luck on her trip to Alabama to visit her family. Pearl has decided to retire and her daughter, Penny, has filled in for her. Thank you, Pearl and Penny!

One of the major changes the undergraduate chapter has made is the changing of officer elections from the spring to the fall. This means that all elections, for both inner circle and semester-long terms, will be held in late November. We based our decision on a strong recommendation from IFC as well as a wish to coordinate with the similar schedule of Panhellenic sororities. With this new change, brothers will be able to run for IFC offices more effectively, since they will not be previously committed to other house offices.

By the time you receive this newsletter, the undergraduate chapter will have

HOMECOMING AND THE FUTURE

By Kristofer Heineman '00, Lieutenant Commander

The numbers are in, they have been tallied and they say that Sigma Nu and Theta Alpha Pi are the overall champions again. Some might have heard that we didn't even place in the overall competition, but after the tallies were checked again, the IFC realized that they had made some mistakes. So congratulations are in order for everyone who helped bring the trophy back to Sigma Nu. We would like to give a big thanks to the women of Theta Alpha Pi for not only helping with all the hard work but also for making some of it fun! For those who could not make it to Homecoming this year, we believe that it went more smoothly than it has in recent history. The undergraduate chapter took the advice of the alumni and split the role of homecoming chairman between two individuals. I took responsibility for being the overall homecoming chair and Michael Zecca '00 took the role of marshal and was in control of all clean-up. We felt the alumni were right, and that the stress was lessened with the job split. The response from the alumni who attended was completely positive, so we are sure that both undergraduate and alumni brothers will follow a similar plan next year. We also hope that more alumni will return next year to see the improvements.

Grand Chapter was a great experience for Brandon Peterson '99 and me as the two delegates from Delta Delta chapter. It was held in Orlando, Fla., and provided one of the best times I have had as a brother. If you get the chance to be a delegate or just to be at Grand Chapter, I suggest you take advantage of it. You meet a lot of other brothers and alumni from around the country. We talked about all different types of situations that affect the house today. The biggest, of course, was the Dry by 2000 issue. As of right now, we are going dry. What happened, as it was explained to me, was that the delegates in San Antonio decided to look into going dry. The High Council can take any motion that passes at Grand Chapter and activate it if they vote in favor of it. The vote consists of the High Council and two delegates from different chapters across the nation. The Dry by 2000 proposition originated in 1997.

At this Grand Chapter, the brothers attached a clause onto the dry amendment that was called the 75 percent rule. It states that in 2000, if less than 75 percent of the NIC fraternities on your campus are not dry, National will revise the Dry by 2000 on a campus-by-campus basis. That will mean that if only four of 56 fraternities on campus are going dry, the schedule will be revised so we will not be at a disadvantage on our campus. It seems that chapters from many of the Southern and Western schools support the Dry by 2000 program.

After the debates, we had fun with the other chapters going here and there. We did things as one entire brotherhood — as Sigma Nu. It was one of those experiences that everyone should have and I urge alumni and undergraduates to get together and get ready for the Grand Chapter Meeting in Phoenix in 2000. I hope this time around we have more participation from alumni, and that more than two undergraduates are able to make the trip. If we come in force, with support from our alumni, there is no reason why all our concerns will not be heard.

PLANNING AN EVENT?

*Are you planning an alumni get-together? Let us help. The Sigma Nu Alumni Association can help plan your event by sending you a free mailing list and/or free address labels for small alumni reunions, golf outings or other get-togethers. ## DAVID COTTERILL '60 HONORED BY PENN STATE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

By Michael Sweeney '92
Alumni Commander

David Cotterill '60 was honored this past October as an Alumni Fellow by the Penn State Alumni Association. The Alumni Fellow Award, the most prestigious award given by the Penn State Alumni Association, is presented to select alumni who, as leaders in their professional fields, are nominated by an academic college, and accept an invitation from the president of the university to return to campus to share their expertise with students, faculty and administrators. David was nominated by the College of Education and was one of only 15 recipients of the award in 1998.

During his visit to Penn State, David and his wife Joan, whom he met during a mixer by the back door of the fraternity's library, visited the Sigma Nu house for dinner. David and Joan were able to meet with the brothers and share experiences about the house and David's career.

David retired in January of 1994 after a very distinguished career as executive vice president of Wachovia Corporation and president of Wachovia Trust Services based in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Top Ten Things To Do When Sigma Nu Alumni Visit Penn State

By Chris Handa '92

10. Visit the Nittany Lion Shrine: Right at the top of North Burrowes and just up the street from the chapter house!

9. Get grilled stickies at the Diner: Ye Olde College Diner hasn't changed. It is still open 24/7 and has almost the same menu. Chili Mac rules!

8. Visit "Shooter" at The Brewery: Alumnus Scott Richard Sheader '92 tends bar most busy weekends at The Brewery, located between the McAllister Street Parking Garage and Beaver Avenue. Even on big weekends, it seems as if Sigma Nu has taken over the place.

7. Buy a gift at The Apple Tree: Alumnus Earl Harner '73 owns this neat little shop on College Avenue. Check out the posters, lava lamps, and other strange little goodies in the store.

6. Golf on the Blue Course: The pro shop is still right behind Sigma Nu in Rec Hall. The course is just across Atherton Street!

5. Get ice cream at The Creamery: Take a walk on campus to The Creamery. Ice cream is still fresh, cheap and sinful. They're open for breakfast, too!

4. Go to The Gaff: The Shandygaff Saloon on Calder Way still plays the same records you danced to during your Penn State days. Alumnus Stan Stroup '79 still comes into Happy Valley each weekend just to play Oldies at The Gaff. Stop in, make a request, and say "Hi!"

3. Check out the new stuff: Penn State is ALWAYS growing. Currently, The Hetzel Union Building (HUB) is being remodeled and expanded. New athletic fields and buildings have also recently been added to campus.

2. Take an undergraduate to lunch/dinner: Give an undergraduate brother a treat. Take him on your own tour of campus to your favorite spots and share your Sigma Nu experience.

1. Stop by the house and say hello: 340 North Burrowes Road, a place most of us called home during our Penn State years!

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES AROUND IN WASHINGTON, D.C., AREA

By Bob (Nellie) Nelson '72

FALL SEMESTER A SUCCESS

The metropolitan Washington, D.C. area offers many opportunities for alumni interaction, thanks to two highly active alumni organizations.

The Sigma Nu Alumni Association of Washington, D.C. offers social, professional networking and alumni support opportunities for Sigma Nus who reside in the area. The association's inaugural event was a congressional reception hosted by Senator Trent Lott, which was attended by several hundred area alumni. Other events have included an annual golf outing, barbecues, an annual formal and periodic professional networking luncheons. In addition, area alumni are informed of and encouraged to support local chapter events. For example, I recently attended Delta Pi chapter's (George Washington University) end of rush dinner at the end of which bids were extended. I was joined by an alumnus from Louisiana Tech and a representative of Sigma Nu national. I thoroughly enjoyed learning about Delta Pi and talking to the prospective pledges about Sigma Nu. For more information on this organization, please call me at (W) 301-415-7298, (H) 703-751-3035 or send an e-mail to me at RAN@NRC.GOV.

The metro D.C. area is also home to Penn State's largest alumni organization outside the state of Pennsylvania. A variety of activities occur throughout the year including football viewing parties, a homecoming bus trip, monthly happy hours, a White House holiday tour, a formal to benefit the Four Diamonds Fund, night golf, river tubing trips, professional networking meetings and group trips to local concerts and sports events. More information on this organization can be obtained from its Web site: www.psuwashdc.org; or from its chapter hotline: 202-298-8900. If you live in the metro D.C. area, I encourage you to join these organizations and renew your ties to Sigma Nu and Penn State.

held its second annual cookie baking philanthropy. During the fall of 1997, Dan Roberts '97 and I coordinated Sigma Nu's first philanthropic effort, and now the undergrads are looking to bake once again. The undergraduates will come together and spend a weekend baking cookies and packaging gift bags for a local retirement home. Last year was a great accomplishment and we all felt good about helping others to have a happier holiday season. Looking to make this an annual event, we will deliver the baked goods to the residents ourselves once again.

The semester has gone well and the house is shaping up. We thank the alumni for all their help and support, and encourage you to visit the house. If you have any comments or questions, feel free to reach me at jrm230@psu.edu. LTH!
